

Quotes from Our Investors & Advisors

“This is game changing for the industry. Any time a buyer can access more relevant inventory, have more detailed product information and have integrated analytic tools, the outcome will be optimized for both sides.”

Alexandra Wilkis Wilson - Co-Founder, Gilt

“INTURN’s brilliance is that it creates thoughtful liquidity for excess inventory and improves working capital, providing retailers with added confidence and capital to invest back into their businesses.”

Andrew Fine - Partner, Novel TMT and Managing Director, Sportswear Holdings Ltd.

“While nearly every aspect of the retail experience has been automated, the sale of excess inventory remains a very manual and inefficient process. To date, no one has had the vision and the expertise to fix this broken segment of the industry. INTURN has the retail, software and high tech experience necessary to revolutionize this process and is fundamentally changing the way business is conducted between brands and the buyers of off-price inventory.”

Ben Lerer - Managing Director, Lerer Hippeau Ventures

“Technology has rapidly changed most areas of the fashion industry with one major exception - the $250 billion global excess inventory market. Archaic systems and processes have resulted in time lost, slow inventory turns, and significant erosion of operating margins. INTURN platform is a quantum leap to the future for both sellers and buyers.”

Michael Newman - Former Vice Chairman, COO & CFO, Ralph Lauren

“There are few companies who can affectively bridge business and technology needs together. INTURN has the technology platform to change the way B2B commerce is conducted and bring massive savings to the trillion dollar B2B industry.”

Nitin Mangtani - Former Retail Product Executive at Google

“INTURN’s modernized approach towards providing richly enhanced and timely merchandise availability data enables both brands and retailers alike to benefit from significant opportunities for sales/margin upsides while ensuring expense efficiencies.”

David Margolis - Founder & Former President of Winners, a division of The TJX Companies

“This is the last frontier untouched by retail technology. While nearly every aspect of the retail experience has been automated, the sale of off-price inventory remains a very manual and inefficient process.”

Ken Seiff - Board Member and Managing Partner, Beanstalk Ventures